Longwood Gardens is an American botanical garden. It consists of over 1,077 acres of gardens, woodlands, and meadows in Kennett Square, Pennsylvania. Longwood Gardens has acres of gardens and fountains and 20 indoor gardens including the heated conservatory, the main fountain garden, Italian water garden and an open air theatre. Pierre S. DuPont the American entrepreneur, businessman, philanthropist, and member of the prominent DuPont family purchased the land primarily to preserve the trees. He wasn't planning to create Longwood Gardens, but within a few years, his desire to make it a place where he could entertain his friends transformed a simple country farm into one of the country's leading horticultural display gardens
