No matter the weather here in the North East, a glance at this calendar offers a moment to dream of a lovely day. There is enough room to note appointments, and I love the quotes from current fiction that describe the effects of nature on daily living. I keep a list of the books for future reads. 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. Gorgeous Calendar By Jacquelyn Bought this calendar as a gift for my mom for Christmas. Wasn't sure if she would like it, especially because I had no idea what any of the pictures looked like, but it received good reviews so I bought it anyway. And I'm so glad I did! All the photos are awesome. Very serene and great to look at. My mom couldn't be happier and gave the calendar a prominent spot on the wall in her office. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Out on the Porch calendar By The Phantom In reply to Tom S, who gave this calendar only one star, all I can say is that his review shows how different folks are! I love it for the very reason that he dislikes it - the random colors of the day numbers. I buy and use it year after year, because, although I have seen other calendars with lovely pictures, I haven't found one with the day numbers in beautiful, random colors. I love this feature!! It brings a splash of unrestrained magic to my otherwise organized month!

What could be better than this? Out on the Porch is a year of pure serenity and relaxation. Every month, the good life beckons: the pleasure of putting up your feet, sipping a glass of cold lemonade, spending time with a book or perhaps with a friend in breezy conversation. And oh, the view! A rustic cabin porch in Michigan looks out over lush green woods. A sun-dappled California porch is the perfect spot for tea. And in Maine, a pretty white porch is made especially inviting with a wicker swing and overstuffed pillows. Accompanying the full-color photographs are beguiling porch quotes from literature.
