A selection of the best drawings from the classic 1920 to 1930 AR series of looseleaf folders entitled A Practical Exemplar of Architecture. Long out of print, these folders represented a source of authentic 17th and 18th century stonework, woodwork, fireplaces, doorways and similar domestic details. This book makes them available to a wide audience of architects, interior designers, builders and the owners of houses of those periods. A companion volume Three Centuries of Architectural Craftsmanship extends these examples into a wider range of building types.

'This book is redolent of riches, firstly of the architectural riches of the period it records and, perhaps even more striking, the wealth of the period which first recorded them. The meticulous draughtsmanship of the Edwardian neo-Georgians is one of the joys of this well-produced volume.'
